

Movie 'Jaws' brings an increase in shark-sightings

By The Associated Press
The power of suggestion has prompted shark sightings in a few resort areas where the movie "Jaws" is drawing record crowds, but officials say most of the danger is in the imagination. They report that tourist business has been unaffected.

The movie which recently opened around the country deals graphically with attacks by sharks on swimmers in Long Island, N.Y., waters. It has been doing a booming business, but an Associated Press spot check showed that thus far, the film has not kept would-be swimmers away from the beaches.

Officials in Rhode Island said there had been an upsurge in reported shark sightings, and beaches in Newport and Middletown were closed as a result of the problem. But John G. Casey, a biologist at the National Marine Fisheries Service in Narragansett said he checked and found no more sharks than usual.

"There were no indications that the number of sharks is any higher than in past years," Casey said after a week of surveying the waters about 100 miles south of Block Island.

He said there had always been a lot of sharks off the New England coast, but he added, "In reviewing 100 years of records, I've never found an example of a shark attacking a person in Rhode Island waters."

Casey blamed the movie for the sighting reports.

"Instead of a few lifeguards looking out toward the ocean, there will be thousands of eyes looking out there after swimmers see 'Jaws'," he said.

Police and Coast Guard officials in Hawaii, where "Jaws" opened last Friday and is attracting record crowds, said they had not noticed any increase in reports about sharks. They said swimmers have been bitten over the years, but added that the last death resulting from a shark attack was over a decade ago.

Biologists and marine experts generally stressed that although shark attacks are dangerous and frightening, they are not really that frequent. A Florida scientist said only 50 shark attacks are reported around the world each year. He said that, in contrast, over 300 people in the United States alone were stung to death in one year by bees and wasps.

Two hostages released, third held by guerrillas

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (AP) — Marxist guerrillas in Zaire today released two women, one American and one Dutch, after nearly six weeks of captivity but kept an American man hostage pending further ransom negotiations, U.S. diplomats reported.

U.S. Embassy officials said Carrie Jane Hunter, 21, of Atherton, Calif., and Emilie Van Zinnicq Bergmann, 25, of the Netherlands were "in good shape but tired" when they arrived at Kigoma in western Tanzania after a 30-mile boat trip across Lake Tanganyika.

Kenneth Stephen Smith, 22, of Garden Grove, Calif., remained a hostage in Zaire. He was also believed to be in good health although U.S. spokesmen said they had no details about his condition.

Miss Hunter and Miss Bergmann were to be flown 700 miles to Dar Es Salaam today. The American girl's father, Norman Hunter, was with them.

U.S. Ambassador Beverly Carter and Dutch Ambassador Jan Van Den Berg, in a brief statement, expressed relief over the release of the two young women. They said efforts were continuing to obtain the release of Smith.

In California, Stanford University President Richard W.

Lyman said he was "enormously relieved, and optimistic that Steven Smith will be released safely."

A previous attempt to bring the students back to Tanzania failed last Tuesday when a Zaire gunboat, apparently on an anti-guerrilla mission, shelled the landing point as a boat carrying U.S. diplomats approached the Zaire lake shore.

Members of the Popular Revolutionary Party kidnaped four students May 19 from a baboon study center near Kigoma. The incident drew international attention to the guerrillas, who have been fighting a little-known war against Zaire President Mobutu Sese Seko for eight years.

The guerrillas reportedly control large areas near the lake. One hostage, Barbara Smuts, 24, of Ann Arbor, Mich., was released to carry ransom demands for $500,000, large amounts of arms and ammunition and the freedom of guerrilla leaders detained in Tanzania.

Tanzania rejected the demands and, along with Zaire, offered little help to American officials attempting to contact and negotiate with the guerrillas.

Officials declined to say whether the release of the two young women meant that ransom was paid. The guerrillas, communicating with the U.S. Embassy through letters written by the hostages, were believed to have scaled down their demands.

The guerrillas had indicated they would shoot the captives if the demands were not met by mid-July.

House rule limits bills introduced

Calvin Schuneman, (R-Prophetstown), announced late this morning that the Illinois House of Representatives has instituted a rule that would limit the number of bills a member of the House may introduce in a session.

Although the exact number of bills has not been determined, Schuneman believes the fact that the concept was approved, is significant.

He said that over 3,000 bills were introduced this year by the 177 members of the House. By limiting the number of bills each could introduce, the House could more efficiently handle the matters of most importance, he commented.

$4 million jewel theft pulled off by 4 gunmen

PARIS (AP) — In one of the greatest jewel thefts of all time, four gunmen posing as delivery boys arrived at the Paris apartment of an American millionaire with a basket of gladioli and left with jewelry which police estimated to be worth $4 million.

Police gave the following account:

At 10 a.m. Friday, the gunmen turned up at the service entrance to the plush Avenue Foch apartment of Rita Sherman-Steinberg, 54, of New York, whom friends identified as the former wife of Charles Lachman, cofounder of the Revlon cosmetics empire.

The four rang the service entrance bell, identified themselves as delivery boys, and were allowed to enter the building, carrying their basket of flowers to Mrs. Sherman-Steinberg's apartment.

There they burst in on the maid and tied her up. They found Mrs. Sherman-Steinberg asleep and bound her and her friend, Shirley Preissman, also of New York.

After shutting the three women in a small room, the robbers located the jewelry and "several hundred thousand dollars in cash" in various cupboards throughout the apartment and escaped.

The women were found two hours later by Mrs. Sherman-Steinberg's chauffeur.

Police said the stolen jewelry included a 38-carat diamond valued at $1 million and a turquoise and diamond necklace valued at $500,000. They said most of the stolen jewels was insured.

Investigators said Mrs. Sherman-Steinberg had been wearing the jewelry at a party Thursday night and had not had time to return it to the bank before the raiders struck. They said the robbery may have been improvised soon after she was seen wearing the jewelry.

Mrs. Sherman-Steinberg refused to confirm the police estimate of the value of the jewelry or to give details of the robbery. She said it would be "very dangerous — I'm afraid for other people." She did not elaborate.

The largest jewel theft on record occurred on November 13, 1969, in Freetown, Sierra Leone, when an armed gang stole diamonds worth $4.2 million and belonging to the Sierra Leone Selection Trust.

In another burglary on the French Riviera, police said Mrs. Howard B. Johnson, wife of the American restaurant and hotel magnate, lost jewelry valued at $250,000 from her apartment in the Eden Roc Hotel at Antibes.

They said Mrs. Johnson did not realize the jewelry had been stolen until she returned to the United States. The jewels, including an 11-carat diamond, had been left in the apartment Tuesday night. When Mrs. Johnson and her husband returned to the hotel Wednesday, she had her baggage loaded on her aircraft to return to the United States without checking the contents.

The Sioux reservation has been the scene of much violence since the takeover of Wounded Knee — a hamlet 12 miles from the site of Thursday's shooting — by Indian militants in 1973. Two Indians were killed in subsequent fire-fights with federal agents.

The occupation split the reservation into two factions, one supporting AIM and the other at prices below their home markets.

—Aluminum Company of America, the nation's largest producer of aluminum, announced a 2.3 per cent price rise over 60 per cent of its shipments.

—The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. announced a 4.9 per cent price increase on Goodyear tires and tubes.

Search for FBI slayers continues

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (AP) — The FBI says its search for the slayers of two FBI agents is still centered on the sprawling Pine Ridge Indian Reservation that has been beset by shootings, beatings and killings.

"There is nothing to indicate that the persons have left the reservation," FBI spokesman Thomas Coll said Friday. "Until we are positive that they are not here, we will continue the search."

About 200 agents are combing the rugged hills and ravines of the nation's second largest reservation, using armored personnel carriers, a helicopter and a light plane.

Coll, public information specialist for the FBI, said the bureau has not identified the persons it is seeking, but he said there are believed to be 16 of them.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the Wounded Knee Legal Defense Fund in Rapid City and American Indian Movement Leader Russell Means charged that the FBI had provoked the shootings by killing an Indian. The legal fund spokesman said he fears the federal search will result in the random arrest of Indians.

The two slain agents, Jack R. Coler and Ronald A. Williams, both 28, were shot Thursday when they approached a group of reservation buildings to serve arrest warrants on four Indians. The enclave had trenches dug around it.

Coll admitted the search could be long and arduous, but he said, "We will continue the investigation as long as is necessary to find the persons involved in the shootings."

The search is hampered by the harsh terrain of the huge reservation, which covers a section of South Dakota's southwest corner 50 miles wide and 100 miles long. The landscape is dotted with abandoned structures, dry creekbeds and towering, tree-shrouded hills well suited to hiding.

The Sioux reservation has been the scene of much violence since the takeover of Wounded Knee — a hamlet 12 miles from the site of Thursday's shooting — by Indian militants in 1973. Two Indians were killed in subsequent fire-fights with federal agents.

The occupation split the reservation into two factions, one supporting AIM and the other backing the elected tribal government headed by Tribal President Richard Wilson.

Eight Indians have died in violence on the reservation this year.

A BIA official told The Associated Press on Friday night that at least two fruitless negotiating sessions were held before the agents were shot and before the persons in the house escaped.

Committee approves no-fault

WASHINGTON (AP) — Every car driver in the country would be required to have no-fault insurance coverage under a bill approved by a Senate committee.

No-fault would save American drivers as much as $1 billion in premium payments annually, said Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., chairman of the Commerce Committee, which approved the bill Friday.

Under the bill's approach, an auto accident victim would be compensated probably by his own insurance company for all medical and rehabilitation expenses, regardless of who caused the accident.

As it is, the accident victim often has to go to court and prove "fault" before recovering any money at all.

Accident trial lawyers, staunch opponents of the bill, receive some $1.8 billion in fees each year, more than seriously injured victims receive in court-awarded damages, says Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, chairman of the Commerce subcommittee which drafted the bill.

Other provisions of the bill: —Payments of up to $15,000 would be provided if injury prevented a person from working.

—An injured housewife would receive funds to hire help to care for the house or for her children.

—Persons disabled for more than 90 days would have the legal right to sue the driver at fault for additional damages.

—Lawsuits for intangible damages such as pain and suffering would be restricted to serious cases.

Prosecution plan okayed in Ogle

OREGON—Ogle County has been named to receive a $24,000 grant to expand its law enforcement program.

According to Peter Woods, Ogle County state's attorney, the money is earmarked for the establishment of a deferred prosecution program.

The grant was awarded by the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission. Ogle and La Salle counties are the only ones to have received such a grant. The program is aimed at first-time criminal offenders.

It is believed that, by giving these people a "second chance," many potential hardened criminals will be saved.

Ogle County authorities feel that by keeping certain first-time offenders out of the prison system the amount of crime in the county can be significantly reduced.

Of the $24,000 grant, Ogle County is to fund $1,210. The remainder will come from federal and state sources. The program is to be implemented in July.

The thieves are stealing

If you should steal money what would happen? Most likely you would be put in prison.

Your dear Congressmen, led by Representative Wayne Hays (D-Ohio), who insisted on voting in committee behind closed doors, increased staff allowance from $204,720 to $227,270.

The cost of the legislative branch of your government has increased from 70 million dollars in 1955 to over 800 million dollars in the next fiscal year, 1975. In the same period, Congressional employees jumped from 5,500 to nearly 20,000.

Under President Ford's proposal, the fiscal 1976 budget will be about 1 billion dollars per day, including Sundays. Didn't Ford say he was going to cut our No. 1 problem, inflation? He's been so busy proposing new laws perhaps inflation has skipped his mind.

Ford has a lot of help spending more paper dollars from your Democratic Congress. In a couple days, June 30, your Democratic congress will give you a new amount, 605 billion dollars, and the yearly interest is only 36 billion dollars.

Your politicians say prices won't go up much higher. Anyway, your Senators and Representatives don't have to worry, we will just add some more fringe benefits. That is better than increasing your salaries, for more salaries increase your income tax, and fringe benefits can be tucked in our pockets without notifying the Treasury Department. Still, your generous Congress gave you a nice big tax cut, or bonus, of $100.

The middle income family, the working people, taxes were only increased 26.5 per cent, going from $1,607.00 in 1973 to $2,033.00 in 1974. There are always two things you can depend on, death and taxes, and we continue to foot the bill with all the various taxes, including inflation, which is the biggest. You also have the cost of many committees created by your generous Senators and Representatives who make up their own rules and charges that force the printing press to ink more paper dollars that shove up prices.

Richard Nixon had the honor of claiming the highest spending record of any President. Ford and the Democratic Congress now hold the deficit record for one year. If you taxpayers can stand up under this load, your Senators and Representatives will be delighted.

1972 Senator Edmund S. Muskie (D-Maine) proposed a bill on Federal Water Pollution Control Act and it was vetoed by President Richard Nixon. The Senate overrode his veto and the bill became a law. If the U. S. Agriculture Department says plowing of land is included in the bill, then all farmers and many gardeners would have to get a permit from army engineers before plowing their fields. This is just a starter. How the courts will interpret the bill can be another shock.

There are some who ask where on earth would you start to cut. Well, the first thing would be the State Department 100 per cent. That would not only save money, it would get rid of a lot of communist agents and spies. Many other departments could be named, but let's get rid of all the commissions, boards and agencies. That would save money and a lot of manufacturers from bankruptcy and giving jobs to workers.

It is a myth when politicians say government is uncontrollable. They just don't want their kinkles to lose their jobs.

By TOM TIEDE

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Despite all his suspense-creating efforts, Gerald Ford was actually the first of all current candidates to put his helmet in the 1976 presidential ring.

Though he originally said he would not seek the office on his own, he changed his mind three days after assuming power last August. He has apparently had third thoughts since then, in part because of the health of his wife, in part because of the wisdom of it all. But those close to him insist he has in effect been campaigning now for almost a year.

"And what you've seen," says a Ford ally in the House, "is what you will see. I don't think the President is suddenly going to transform, presto, into a hard-charging, finger-pointing presidential aspirant. I think he'll be an enthusiastic candidate, but from his own mold. I think that he'll want to indicate to the voters that when he kisses a baby he really wants to kiss the baby."

No doubt credibility will be the major pursuit of the Ford campaign, for after 11 months in office it has become the President's strongest suit. He can't very well solicit votes on his record of legislative genius or intellectual creativity. As a Republican committee officer says, "too many people will remember the oil tariff and Whip Inflation Now." Instead the task will be to convince people that whatever he does if elected will be done for them.

Ford as a candidate -- in search for credibility

Will it work? Many think not. Clare Booth Luce, for one, believes Ford as a person is a dream: "Open, honest, commonsensical, unapologetically patriotic, intellectually unpretentious." But can he be elected? Not a chance, says she.

Luce's negativism is rooted in personal misgivings about the contemporary philosophies of Ford's party, her party, the GOP. She says it has strayed widely from its political reason for being — the promotion of conservative values — and has therefore lost the support of millions. With all his earthy charm, she implies, Ford can not ride 22 per cent of the voters to victory next year.

And if Luce is correct about Ford's fortunes in a sluggish party, others feel he similarly has small chance of capturing votes outside the Republican structure. Polls testify that slightly more than 30 per cent of the electorate sees itself as independent, but there is little sign it aligns itself with the President. Explains a GOP congressman: "I think to a high degree that independent is another word for conservatism, and for all his conservative past Ford has lost their interest. I think they feel the President is too willing to compromise with liberals. I would guess, for example, that Ford's 1976 vote will be in inverse proportion to the budget deficit."

Beyond this, Ford is expected to have difficulties relating to working class people of whatever political persuasion. His staff has repeatedly advised him that, at a time when polls say one of every three American families has an immediate member or close relative out of work, the President has not conveyed an adequate image of sympathy. In vetoing legislation designed to help the unemployed, and in failing to identify even rhetorically with the jobless, he may have isolated himself from what could be the heart of his constituency. "What I'd like him to do," says an aide, "is go out now and prowling the unemployment lines, hug up the people who are broke. That's where it's at today, the votes I mean."

For his part, the President is said to believe the votes are not yet lined up, that opinions will not harden until late summer or thereafter of next year. Thus he would rather be honest with himself and the public now against the hope his steady optimism will pay off with better times tomorrow. He is gambling, then, that "do something" is merely a temporary emotional response and that in fact most people realize that more and more government action hardly ever results in more and more public prosperity.

In the end he may be right, of course, but few are guessing here that Ford will ever be hailed by voters for his wit. Instead, his future clearly seems tied in the main to his character. And his largest opportunity lies in convincing the electorate that he views government as existing to serve the people, not the other way around.

Worldwide inflation showing

LONDON — (LENS) — Around most of the world, inflation is slowing. In February the world inflation rate was 14 per cent (that is, the average of the rises in consumer prices over 12 months earlier in the 96 countries in the IMF that provide reliable statistics, weighted by population). This is the lowest figure since February, 1974, and is well below the 16.2 per cent peak last October.

Since last October, inflation in the 24 richest industrial countries (members of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development) has been kept below 1 per cent, i.e., below an annual 12 per cent, in every month except one.

The exception, unfortunately, was the latest complete month of April, when increases in seasonal food prices, and a raft of public-sector price increases in Britain and Japan, raised the combined monthly rate to 1.1 per cent.

But in Japan (unlike Britain) inflation has almost halved from 26 per cent in the twelve months to November, 1974, down to an annual rate of 14 per cent in April. Japanese wholesale prices of manufactured goods are only 3½ per cent higher than a year ago, and have not risen at all in the past four months.

Britain is the black sheep of the OECD Family. In May the rise in Britain's retail prices was a horrific 4.2 per cent in one month (i.e., over an annual 60 per cent). Britain has contrived more than to double its rate of inflation in November — May, compared with last May — November.

Inflation in nearly every other major industrial country has slowed down.

A surprising exception is Germany, but it already had a low inflation rate anyway. Britain is now uncomfortably ahead of other industrial countries in the inflation league, with inflation running at more than double the rate in Italy and nearly five times that in the United States.

In Latin America — which includes the world's most seasoned hyperinflationers — inflation seems to have levelled out. But at rates which are high even by the current standards of most OECD member countries. In February, Latin America was inflating at 38 per cent. Nevertheless, since world inflation started to accelerate in 1973 the average annual inflation rate in Latin America has gone from 29 per cent to 38 per cent, while OECD countries have nearly doubled their rate, from 8 per cent to 13 per cent.

Some Latin Americans are still doing very badly. Chile's inflation has risen eighteenfold in four years. Last year Chile's junta said that its target was to bring the annual rate down to 25 per cent in 1975. The target is not being hit. In 1974, Chile's inflation rate was 590 per cent.

For the year to April, the rate shows a fall, but in that month alone, the rise in prices was equivalent to 790 per cent a year. Chile has recently hired (for a fee expressed in dollars, let's hope) the services of Professor Milton Friedman, the high priest of monetarism. The government has taken the axe to public spending.

April seems to have been a bad month among all the hyperinflationary countries. Argentina had 10 per cent inflation in a month, taking the rate in 12 months to nearly 80 per cent — four times the rate last August. The Paraguayans have fallen back on the old expedient of fiddling the consumer price index. All the items used to calculate the index have had their prices frozen. So the "official" rate of inflation is down to 2 per cent a year.

Africa is being sharply divided by the unequal distribution of benefits from the soaring prices for oil and slumping prices for commodities. The lucky countries — like Nigeria, Libya and Gabon — wallow in oil-wealth. Countries like Tanzania teeter on the edge of bankruptcy.

Things Dixon Talked About

25 YEARS AGO

A record-breaking appropriation budget — one slightly under a quarter of a million dollars — was submitted to last night's council meeting by the Mayor. The department of streets and public improvements had the biggest increase, up about 23 per cent over the preceding year to $59,100.

50 YEARS AGO

Dixon is just becoming acquainted with the possibilities of organized Scouting as operated by the National Headquarters at New York, and under a special charter granted by Congress. The preliminary work of the local council in two months has already shown wonderful results and future possibilities.

U.S. gets 'Shah' in arm

Ever since the Shah of Iran said he was going to raise oil prices again, this time for our own good — so that we can learn some self-discipline and face up to the energy crisis — outpourings of gratitude have been outpouring all over the United States.

"Oh, Shah!" said one observer. "Oh, mighty Shah!" said another. "Oh, might pshaw!" said a third.

But the most dedicated appreciative Americans have gotten together a group known as the National Union to Thank the Shah! (or NUTS!) to better express their feelings at this touching moment in the history of international generosity.

Sums up Elwood Sandune, chairman of the NUTS! board of directors: "The Shah is the ultimate in conservative sheik. He's just trying to preserve the old values like truth, justice and the Arabian way and we should all get down on our knees to thank him three or four times a day. What greater sacrifice can someone make than to raise his prices for the customers he loves."

As a thank you gesture, a NUTS! committee is planning to visit Iran to give the Shah an American flag, an autographed picture of Hank Aaron and the key to Fort Knox. But Sandune adds that there is another reason for the trip.

"We're going to try to talk the Shah into giving up his idea to raise oil prices 35 per cent or so," he says. "We're going to beg that he raise prices maybe 75 or 390 percent so we'll really be able to learn a lesson. I know this is a terrible sacrifice to ask him to make in these troubled times but the Shah is a big man — at least 5-foot-8 or so — and I think he may rise to the occasion."

History supports Sandune's contention that the Shah's offer is the biggest international act of charity since Hitler liberated Czechoslovakia and Sandune rejects out of hand any suggestions that the Shah might have been operating more out of greed than out of beneficence.

"Why should the Shah want money? What are a few billion or so to him? Do you think he's going to take that money and buy jet bombers and tanks with it or something, for heaven's sake. Now my guess — and this is strictly speculation, of course — is that he would take money from higher oil prices and use it to feed hungry children in Africa or Latin America, or perhaps rebuild war torn areas of Southeast Asia, or at least help the Rolls-Royce people out by buying a few dozen limousines."

Sandune says the NUTS! people are still working on some more enduring return gift to the Shah. Suggestions have included: sending over 12 trillion cubic feet of bottled air pollution so the Iranians will be able to enjoy the experience of having an ecology movement, giving them all the existing tapes of old "Sonny," "Cher" and "Sonny and Cher" TV shows so the Iranians will be able to better appreciate just how entertaining snake charming is; and allowing Iranians to pay all Americans' income tax for the next 10 years so they can learn how much fun it is.

But Sandune says his organization right now is learning toward an idea that the U.S. Air Force fly over Iran and bomb it back to the Stone Age. "That way they wouldn't have to worry about raising their oil prices to take care of us all the time," he says. "It would be painful for us, needless to say, but I'm sure they'd understand if we just kept saying, 'This hurts us more than it does you.'"

Some teachers may collect jobless pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teachers who worked as substitutes during the school year could still be eligible for unemployment insurance benefits although a special law excludes them from collecting jobless benefits during the summer.

An official with the Labor Department's Manpower Administration said Thursday that substitutes without contracts for the fall term could qualify, provided they met general state requirements for jobless benefits. Most substitutes do not work under contract.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
You will make several requests to no avail for something you'll want done today. Eventually, you'll do it yourself.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Don't lean too heavily on friends for donations to your pet charity today. Their money may be earmarked for something more personal.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
People you'll mix with today are not necessarily interested in the same goals you are. Don't harp on your aims.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
You've foolishly convinced yourself that something can't be done on your own. Not so! You'll do it better alone.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
You'll have to take a more direct approach regarding a delicate matter that you're trying to settle with a friend. Be firm.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
You're too indecisive today over small issues. Your behavior will cause some annoyance. Go along with the group.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
You have a tendency today to put things off till the very last minute. This will upset your schedule, and someone else's as well.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Be careful when talking to a friend today that your questions don't probe too deeply. He's sensitive about a certain matter.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
You'll accomplish more at home today if you first set the example you want the family to follow, rather than merely admonishing them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
For a task you'll attempt today, your first ideas won't be your best. Sound them out on someone who has faced a similar problem.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Be a wise shopper today. Don't buy anything new without first looking around to see if you can get the same item used, in good condition, at a better price.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
You're apt to be a bit restless and moody if you're too much of a homebody today. Pack the family in the car and go somewhere!

Your Birthday
June 29, 1975

A distant place you've always wanted to visit may be on your agenda this year. Knowledge as well as enjoyment will be gained from this experience.

Miss O'Brien, Mr. Fritts repeat marriage vows

St. Patrick's Catholic Church was the setting of a recent wedding ceremony for Miss Marita O'Brien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis O'Brien, Dixon, and Clarence Russell Fritts, son of the Clarence E. Fritts, Oregon.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William Schuessler, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Crawford Thomas provided music at the organ and Miss Adelle Castillo, Sterling, was vocalist.

Twin arrangements of yellow gladioli adorned the altar as the bride was escorted down the aisle. The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a traditional gown of imported silk organza trimmed in Venice lace. It was styled with a ruffled V neckline, bishop sleeves and an empire waistline. The A-line skirt swirled into a built-in chapel train. The cathedral length mantilla veil was edged in matching Venice lace. As the bride was escorted to the altar, she carried a nosegay of yellow daisies, white Elegance carnations and baby's breath with white ribbon streamers.

Serving her sister as maid of honor was Miss Maureen O'Brien, Dixon. She was attired in a long traditional gown. The light blue jersey knit gown was edged in Nottingham lace. The gown was styled with a softly gathered skirt and bishop sleeves gathered to a lace cuff. She wore a picture hat matching her gown and carried a nosegay of yellow daisies and baby's breath with yellow ribbon streamers.

Miss Rae Jean Pfeifer, Dixon, was the bridesmaid and wore a gown styled identically to the maid of honor's.

Richard Huggins, Lanark, served the bridegroom as the best man. Larry Fritts, Rapid City, the brother of the bridegroom, served as groomsmen. Ushers for the ceremony were John Walker, Grand Detour, and Doug Frey, Dixon.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the VFW Club. Cutting and serving the cake were Mrs. David J. O'Brien, Glenview, Minn., and Mrs. Ronald J. O'Brien, Dixon, both sisters-in-law of the bride. Miss Elizabeth Scudder, Dixon, poured coffee for the guests and serving punch was Mrs. Brian Babel, Nelson. Opening gifts for the bride couple were Miss Jenny Henson and Mrs. Robert Freed, both of Dixon. Mrs. Gary Cunningham, Dixon, presided at the guest book and music for the reception was provided by Ron Eckburg, Walnut.

Following the wedding trip to Virginia, the couple is residing at 816 S. Hennepin Ave.

The new Mrs. Fritts is a graduate of Newman Central Catholic High School, Sterling, and is employed by the Central Telephone Company.

Mr. Fritts, a graduate of Polo Community High School, Polo, is also employed by Central Telephone Company.

By Oswald & James Jacoby
North and South were bidding what might be called advanced standard American. Thus North's jump to four spades conveyed the standard information that he had 19 or 20 points in support of spades, but special information that his hand included no singletons or voids.

Based on that information South decided to play six without exchanging any information that might help the defense.

South won the club lead in dummy and made the standard safety play of leading a trump to his ace. This guarded against the danger of finding all four trumps in one hand. As it turned out, this was an essential play.

South's next move was a low trump toward dummy. West played the 10 and dummy the king.

South still had problems but he solved them in admirable fashion. He started by cashing dummy's ace-king of hearts and ace of diamonds. Then he led a club to his ace, ruffed his last club and finally led dummy's nine of trumps. West took his queen but had to lead to South for the rest of the tricks. Apart from the trump safety play, it should be noted that if South had failed to cash dummy's high heart and the ace of diamonds West could have thrown him in dummy and scored his eight of trumps as a diamond overruff. 28

Activities planned by OES Chapter

Dorothy Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, met recently in the Masonic Temple, when Mrs. Tracey Stinson, worthy matron, presided.

The meeting opened with the pledge of allegiance to the American flag, as the flag was presented by Harry Lephien, and Mrs. Beulah Tennant served as Adah pro tem. A report was given by Mrs. Vernon Stein, and 14 members of Grand Chapter committees were introduced. Mrs. Rachel Stewart, chaplain, conducted a memorial service for the late Mrs. Ora Tice, and appointed to serve on the July committee were Mrs. Mary Allwood, Miss Frances Patrick and Mrs. June Rote.

An initiation ceremony was planned for Tuesday night in the temple, and plans were also made for the recent official visit of Mrs. Kathryn Gorecki, worthy grand matron, if Illinois, and Harold F. Stanfield, worthy grand patron.

An exchange night with Primrose Chapter, Morrison, was scheduled for Aug. 19, and refreshments were served during a social hour by Miss Grace Crawford, Mrs. Lois Krug and Marion Joiner when the birthday of Mrs. Stinson was observed.

Attending the meeting were OES members from Dixon, Rock Falls and Amboy.

Polly's Pointers

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — We are moving into a newly built home and I am faced with the problem of removing plaster and cement from the ceramic tile bathtub that has non-slip circles inside. Can the same method for removing this plaster from the tub be used for removing it from the marble window sills? — Debbie.

DEAR DEBBIE — The professional advice I received was to VERY carefully remove such chunks with a retractable razor blade scraper (bought at the hardware store) but not a razor blade. That might scratch the porcelain finish. The same carefully used method should remove it from the sills as both have the same glazed finish.

One other suggestion was to fill the tub with hot water and keep it hot, by refilling from time to time, and then rub with a non-abrasive dobbie pad such as used for cleaning non-stick skillets. Just keep on and on with this. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with those people who are so quick to judge others and classify anyone associated with, in this case, motorcycles as the wrongdoers and from this form unfair opinions. Mrs. G. G.'s Pet Peeve about noisy and useless motorcycles was unfair. There are laws restricting the noise they can make just as with autos. My guess is that her Peeve is not with the noise but is a personal gripe against motorcycles in general. She cannot see any apparent good use for them which is not respecting the rights of others. Motorcycles have and are providing many hours of good clean fun for teenagers and families at little expense when otherwise they might be spending that time getting into trouble. Also, Mrs. G. G., think of the noise pollution from fire trucks and sirens.

As to a motorcycle transporting only one person we have two and each capable of transporting four people the same as her car. One has a side car and the other is a three-wheeler with seating for four. They get 40 miles to a gallon of gas, too. Do not knock another's pleasure because it does not fit into your life. — MRS. L. P.

DEAR POLLY — An ice cream scoop is great to use for measuring shortening, margarine (soft) or butter when cooking. Mine measures four tablespoons or 1/4 cup exactly so I find this certainly easier and much less messy than other methods of measuring such ingredients. — DONNA.

DEAR POLLY — An easy way to clean all the family combs that have goo clogged between the teeth is to lay them in the bathroom basin and spray with the foamy cleaner you use to clean the basin. Wash out the basin. Then if the combs are not entirely clean give them another squirt and help it along with a discarded toothbrush. Rinse thoroughly. Quick and easy! — MRS. G.R.S. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Miss Smith is honored at showers

Miss Mary Smith, July 12 bride-elect of Ronald W. Pfeifer, was guest of honor at a recent miscellaneous shower hosted by her bridal attendants in the home of the honoree's sister, Mrs. Sharon Tucker. Bridal games provided entertainment, and prizes were awarded by Mrs. Nancy Auth and Miss Debbie Baker.

Decorations for the refreshment table were in the bride-to-be's chosen colors, lavender, green, pink and blue, and additional guests were Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. Mary Smith, Miss Cathy Knudsen, Miss Chris Andreas, Miss Rae Jean Pfeifer, Mrs. Marion Smith, Mrs. Mabel Jones and Mrs. Janet Wadleton.

Miss Smith was also honored at a patio shower arranged by Mrs. Vikki Wadsworth when guests included Mrs. Joan DuBois, Mrs. Anita Ebert, Mrs. Joan Matheny, Mrs. Mary Green, Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. Tucker, Mrs. Auth, Miss Baker, Miss Valerie Phillips and Mrs. Agnes Mandrogoc.

A group gift was presented to the honoree, and hors d'oeuvres were served during outdoor games.

He was pulling onto the 200 block of S. Peoria Ave. when he swerved back to avoid an oncoming car, and his auto struck a parked car owned by the State Attorney General's office.

That car was pushed into another parked car belonging to Charles Levad, Park Forest.

Awareness Week

Plea for removal of barriers here

The week of June 30 through July 6 has been nationally proclaimed as Awareness Week.

The week is promoted by the Winning Wheels, a group which is trying to make all Americans aware of what it is like to be confined to a wheelchair.

The main objective of Awareness Week this year is to familiarize people with the International Symbol of Access (pictured). The symbol can only be displayed where no architectural barriers exist.

Architectural barriers are those which impede the passage of handicapped persons.

According to Kathy Challand, Amboy, a member of the Winning Wheels board of directors of this area, barriers such as curbs, steps, narrow doorways and aisles, poorly designed bathrooms, and narrow parking places all combine to bar the handicapped from fully joining society.

Other problems a handicapped person might confront from day to day include phone booths, revolving doors, high drinking fountains, elevator controls, light switches and lack of handrails.

By oversight, today's buildings are not designed to be inaccessible, according to the National Commission on Architectural Barriers. Barriers can be eliminated without undue cost, or loss of beauty or function, they say.

Challand commented that Dixon is particularly negligent in this area. Most buildings, including the Lee County Courthouse, are inaccessible. She calls on the city to have its curbs ramped.

She also hopes that a new state building code will help bring about needed change in building accessibility and expand the quality of life a handicapped person may enjoy.

Winning Wheels will be at Northland Mall Wednesday passing out information regarding the International Symbol of Access. They will also be selling chances to win a new car at the mall.

Betty Pendgraff of KSB Hospital is a member of Winning Wheels and would be happy to answer any questions about the program.

NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Bench of Cincinnati has become the first player in history to draw more than one million National League All-Star ballots for the sixth consecutive year, the baseball commissioner's office announced Friday.

With 10 days remaining in the voting, the Reds catcher is also the individual voting leader in the tabulations with 6,660,229 votes. All the leaders retained their positions from the initial standings two weeks ago, though some are being threatened as the July 6 deadline draws near.

Cincinnati's Joe Morgan has a comfortable lead for the second-base spot with 1,450,660 votes to 414,480 for Rennie Stennett, while Red's shortstop Dave Concepcion polled 1,259,681 ballots for a margin of 479,066 over Larry Bowa of Philadelphia.

Ron Cey of Los Angeles continues to be the fans' favorite third baseman, gathering 992,892 votes to outdistance Joe Torre of New York, with 459,375.

Pete Rose of Cincinnati leads the outfield race with 1,200,815 votes and Del Unser has tightened his grip on second place with 706,657.

However, Rusty Staub's third-place ranking with 639,865 was whittled by base-stealing king Lou Brock of St. Louis. Brock has attracted 609,970 votes and jumped from sixth to fourth place, just 29,895 behind Staub. Los Angeles' Jim Wynn is also a strong contender with 599,643, while Reggie Smith of St. Louis trails with 582,290.

Steve Garvey of Los Angeles, winner of the 1974 Commissioner's Trophy as the All-Star Game's Most Valuable Player, improved his first-base advantage slightly over Cincinnati's Tony Perez, drawing 928,308 votes to 892,873 for the challenger, an edge of 35,435 votes. Garvey's lead was a mere 5,963 last week.

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)

Record crowds are pouring into the All-England Club to see if Jimmy Connors and Chris Evert can retain their Wimbledon titles against the world's top tennis players.

The remaining men's singles quarter-final places were to be decided today, after Connors, Sweden's Bjorn Borg, and Roscoe Tanner of Lookout Mountain, Tenn., advanced into the final eight Friday.

A crowd of 34,000 shuffled shoulder-to-shoulder between courts to watch Friday's play, bringing the five-day attendance to more than 163,000. That's 10,000 more than the all-time attendance record for the 12 days of the U.S. Open at Forest Hills, set last year.

"It seems certain that our all-time record will be broken," said an All-England Club official. The record is 306,111, set last year.

Connors, 22, from Belleville, Ill., played with a master's touch Friday in beating Phil

Dent of Australia 6-1, 6-2, 6-2. Borg, protected by police of four as hordes of screaming female fans deluged him wherever he went, had to work harder to beat veteran American Marty Riessen 6-2, 8-6, 4-6, 6-1.

Tanner relied on his powerful left-handed serve in ousting fellow American Mike Estep of Dallas 9-8, 6-4, 6-2.

Today's matches for the remaining quarter-final spots pitted American Arthur Ashe against Britain's Graham Stilwell; Sandy Mayer of Wayne, N.J.; Guillermo Vilas of Argentina; Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex.; vs Raul Ramirez of Mexico; Tom Okker of The Netherlands vs. Alex Metreveli of the Soviet Union, and an all-Australian clash between Tony Roche and Ken Rosewall.

Meanwhile, the top seven women's seeds were through to the fourth round, with Miss Evert, 20, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., looking unbeatable.

Girls tennis tournament

Tournament chairman is Mrs. Elsa Jablonski. All questions concerning eligibility in state tournaments should be addressed directly to her at 4113 Montclair Road, Rockville, Maryland 20853.

Trevino, Heard burned Lightning halts Open

By JERRY LISKAP
AP Sports Writer

OAK BROOK, Ill. (AP)—Nobody had a chance to invoke the lightning rule in the $200,000 Western Open Golf Tournament Friday, a scary, painful experience for two-time U.S. Open Champion Lee Trevino and Jerry Heard along with several other players buzzed by electrical bolts.

Trevino suffered back burns and Heard leg burns and had to be removed from the thunderstorm-struck Butler National course to a hospital as the tourney's second round was cancelled with half the field home.

Bobby Nichols, Tony Jacklin and Jim Ahern also got lightning jolts. Nichols went to the hospital complaining of a headache after a bolt struck nearby. Jacklin had a club knocked 15 feet away just as he began a swing. Ahern was leaning on his putter when a charge knocked it out of his hands.

Most seriously hurt were Trevino and Heard, huddled under an umbrella which proved a lightning rod. Both were held in a nearby hospital for overnight observation.

Arnold Palmer, who went into today's rescheduled second round still trailing pacesetter Dave Graham by three strokes, even got a scare in the middle of the 14th fairway. "A bolt struck nearby and I just dropped my club," said Palmer who had lost two strokes to par when play was cancelled.

Graham, who shot a course record 65, six-under-par, in Thursday's opening round, was just teeing off on No. 10 and was five-under-par when play was called.

"I heard the siren blow and I made a beeline for the clubhouse," said the Australian pro.

Half the 156-player field had finished when the sudden thunderstorm hit, but all second-round scores were erased. The final two rounds will be played Sunday.

Trevino, Heard and Mike Fetchick, playing in the same threesome, had just played to the 13th green when play was halted at 4:04 p.m. CDT. Fetchick elected to hasten to the clubhouse, but Trevino and Heard sought a low spot near the green and got under an umbrella held by Heard.

Martin is a peacemaker

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

The long, hot summer has just begun, but if the flare-ups in Texas and Baltimore Friday night are any indication, it's going to get a lot longer and much, much hotter.

Texas slugger Jeff Burroughs exchanged punches with one teammate and had to be restrained by Manager Billy Martin from going after another before the Rangers' 2-0, 5-8 split of a two-night doubleheader with the Minnesota Twins.

Billy Martin a peacemaker? That tells you what kind of a night it was in the American League.

Elsewhere, Detroit Manager Ralph Houk allegedly cuffed a Baltimore writer before the Orioles' 3-2 triumph over his Tigers, the Boston Red Sox regained first place in the East Division by trouncing the New York Yankees 9-1, the Oakland A's stretched their lead in the West to 5½ games with a 12-4 rout of the California Angels while the second-place Kansas City Royals were losing to the Chicago White Sox 4-3 and the Cleveland Indians scalped the Milwaukee Brewers 6-1.

Orioles 3, Tigers 2
Baltimore snapped a five-game losing streak with the aid of Mark Belanger's two-strike squeeze bunt in the seventh inning after the tying run scored on a fielder's choice. The Tigers were ahead 2-1 on solo homers by Bill Freehan and Gene Michael. Detroit starter Tom Walker had allowed only one hit, Brooks Robinson's solo homer, when he came out in favor of John Hiller after six innings.

Red Sox 9, Yankees 1
Boston backed Rick Wise's eight-hit pitching with a timely attack. Doug Griffin drove in three runs with a double and single, Rico Petrocelli collected two RBI while extending his hitting streak to six games with a single and double and Cecil Cooper slammed his first home run of the season. Meanwhile, Wise blanked the Yankees until Bobby Bonds hit his 17th home run with two out in the ninth inning.

A's 12, Angels 4
Joe Rudi drove in four runs, and Claudell Washington and Phil Garner two apiece for Oakland. California pitchers struck out 15 batters but also yielded 16 hits and the Angels contributed six errors.

White Sox 4, Royals 3
Hal McRae drove in all three KC runs with a double and triple, but starter Al Fitzmorris had to leave after six shutout innings with a knee injury and the White Sox rallied with two runs in the eighth on Carlos May's triple and two more in the ninth. Bucky Dent's sacrifice fly drove in the tying run in the ninth and Bob Cuccoio scored the winner when reliever Steve Mingori dropped a throw at first base with two out.

Indians 6, Brewers 1
Buddy Bell's sixth home run of the season put Cleveland ahead to stay in the fourth inning and two errors by Milwaukee's

Don Money set up a three-run fifth. Jim Bibby pitched a five-hitter for his first victory since coming to the Indians from the Texas Rangers two weeks ago as the Indians ran their longest winning streak since 1972 to six games.

National League
Strategy, you might say, is a sometime thing. Sometimes it works, sometimes it doesn't. For Sparky Anderson, it did. For John McNamara, it didn't.

McNamara, San Diego's manager, decided to bypass slugging Johnny Bench with an intentional walk to get to the Reds' struggling Dan Driessen in the 11th inning of Friday night's game in Cincinnati.

Anderson, the Reds' manager, then decided to let Driessen swing away. "When the winning run is on, go to whacking," he explained.

So Driessen whacked a Danny Friesella pitch hard enough to put the ball over the right field wall for a three-run homer that gave the Reds a 5-2 victory over the Padres and helped Cincinnati widen its National League West lead to 5½ games over Los Angeles.

Pirates 5-5, Cubs 1-3
The nine-hit pitching of Dock Ellis and a three-run homer by Richie Hebner in the fourth inning gave the Bucs their first game triumph. Then Richie Zisk's tie-breaking single capped a two-run seventh inning that made it a sweep over the Cubs.

Cards 5-4, Expos 4-6
Ted Sizemore's two RBI in a three-run fifth inning helped Bob Gibson notch his 250th career victory in St. Louis' opening-game triumph.

Archers lose 6-5 in final inning

Dundee scored three runs in the top of the ninth inning including a two-run homer by Tom Falese to defeat the Dixon Archers 6-5 at Reynolds Field Friday night in semi-pro baseball. The Archers outthit the visitors 9-8 but the two-run homer plus a walk and two singles saddled Kurt Peterson with the loss.

Dundee clean-up batter Jerry Zierk cracked a two-run homer to give his team the lead in the first inning. Dixon fought back to score one run in the bottom of the frame and then took a 3-2 advantage on Chuck Webster's two-run home run in the second.

Dan Willard went two-for-two to pace the Archers who now host Johnsbury for a doubleheader on Sunday.

Sport Notes

North All-Stars

NORMAL—Three players who were the class of Class A at tournament time last March will be together on the North squad in the Illinois Basketball Coaches Association all-star games July 12 at Illinois State University.

All-tourney selections Lyndon Swanson of Watseka, Bruce VanderSchaaf of Timothy Christian (Elmhurst) and Bob Sprowls of Buda Western are on the 11-player team. Swanson was the top scorer in the state tourney with a 23.8 average, and VanderSchaaf tied for second.

They and 33 other Class A and AA standouts will be on display in the state's first all-star games at 7 and 8:30 p.m. at ISU's Horton Field House. Public tickets are on sale at the field house. They are $3 for floor-level seats, including those behind the baselines, and $4 for balcony seats.

The 6-foot-8 Swanson (headed for Texas A&M) may have led state tourney scorers, but he's not the top gun on the North squad. That honor goes to 6-6 center Jeff Mosher of Prophetstown, who averaged 29.3 points and 13 rebounds. Mosher, who may attend Rockford College, had 50 points and 23 rebounds in one game. Swanson's game high was 48 points.

Ranking third in season-long scoring averages for the North is the superbly talented Scott Eells, 6-9 Hoppeston-East Lynn forward who has signed a letter of intent at Indiana University. Eells averaged 25.4 points and 15 rebounds per game. Other 20-plus scorers for the North are Monte Hazelbaker of Oakwood at 24.8, Dave Rinker of Toluca at 21.3, and VanderSchaaf at 20.2.

Five of the 11 players averaged less than 20, but their talents are measured in many ways. Sprowls, for example, averaged 19 points and 11 rebounds for Buda Western—which had the best record in Class A basketball at 29-1. He was honorary captain of the Chicago Daily News all-state team.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE D-696: Dr. Charles Ray Goff was pastor at the skyscraper Chicago Temple for 19 years during the 35 years I taught the adult Dixon Bible Class there.

"Dr. Crane," he once said, "many modern young people find little help from the present pulpit 'longhairs.'"

"And the stress on 'luring' young people into the church is missing the mark."

"For teen-agers are basically idealists!"

"They have an inner sense that urges them to make something worthwhile out of their lives."

"For that is the time when idealism reaches its zenith and when youth are motivated to become missionaries or enlist in humanitarian causes."

"Andrew Greeley had a splendid essay in the newspapers recently in which he neatly delineated the mistaken attitude of ultra modern clerics, for he wrote:

"So the clergy let their hair go long, use words like ripoff, smoke grass, take baths once a week, sleep with a guitar and, like man, really swing."

"The churches have rock masses, and dancers in skimpy clothes cavorting around the sanctuary, and praise 'Superstar' and Lenny Bernstein's phony religious music."

"Dr. Crane, don't you think such frilly non-essentials fail to inspire young people who have a deep hunger for religious idealism?"

Bravo, Dr. Goff

Yes, indeed, for I know that young people in the middle teens reach a strange but marvelous state wherein they hunger for idealistic challenges.

Subconsciously, they realize that life down here on this planet Earth is but a brief interval in the vast expanse of time.

In the middle of the night, they often lie awake wondering, like the Bible prophet who asked whence we came and whither do we go.

Eternal verities, like self-sacrificial love, as of a mother for her endangered child or a father for his drowning son, are automatically seen as real love, contrasting with sexual orgies and the sensual will-o-the-wisp false goal of promiscuity and wife-swapping.

Descartes said at birth, the Almighty implants a few "Divine Sparks" in the brain of every human infant.

These vaguely motivate a child to seek nourishment thereof, which is why teen-agers daydream of heroic deeds and self-sacrifice for their fellowmen.

Missionaries, teachers, physicians and dentists and philanthropists, as well as altruistic youth, thus feel an inner urge to leave this world a better place for their having lived here.

If these teen-age resolves are nurtured and nourished properly, the young people go onward to lofty attainment and become Clara Bartons or Dr. Schweitzers or Abraham Lincolns.

If ignored or diverted by agents of Satan, they may remain cynical atheists or sadistic Hitlers!

For Pope Paul recently stated that the Devil is alive on this planet and with millions of his nefarious allies, is trying to destroy mankind.

But the proper evangelistic clergymen can defeat the Devil and continue feeding those "Divine Sparks" until they flame into the zeal of ancient Elijah or the modern Bishop Sheen, Dr. Peale and Billy Graham.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of Dixon Evening Telegraph, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs, when you send for one of his booklets.)

BAD days ahead for one-time Soviet Secret Police Chief Alexander N. Shelepin who recently visited the U.S. as the USSR's trade union chief. Shelepin was ousted from the Politburo upon his return to Moscow then removed as head of the All-Union Council of Trade Unions.

Thought for today

Brethren, I do not consider that I have made it my own; but one thing I do, forgetting what lies behind and straining forward to what lies ahead, I press on toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus. — Philippians 3:13, 14.

"Most of us serve our ideals by fits and starts. The person who makes a success of living is the one who sees his goal steadily and aims for it unswervingly." — Cecil De Mille, American theatrical producer. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

The Doctor says:

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — Your column on "Softer Bones Come with Age" was of particular interest to me.

My aunt has osteoporosis of the spine and has had several compressed vertebrae and has been on calcium vitamin D and fluoride for some time. However, a friend of hers mentioned a drug, Motrin, which is supposed to be a new drug used for this condition, as well as for arthritis.

Are you familiar with this type drug, and is it also being used for osteoporosis? Is Motrin mostly a pain-killing drug?

DEAR READER — Motrin is a new drug in the United States. It has been used for some time in Canada and other countries. Because it is new it is getting a certain amount of play. You should think of it as a substitute for aspirin. It is mostly for pain relief.

The manufacturers claim it is useful in larger doses than commonly used for inflammation. The same is true of aspirin.

Neither Motrin nor aspirin will arrest or slow down the process of dissolving bones with age that so commonly occurs after the menopause in women, and later in men. Both may help to relieve any associated pain from the condition. The medicines your aunt is already taking are the ones used to help slow or stop the bone softening process.

DEAR DR. LAMB — On two or three occasions I have read some unsettling comments concerning the use of Valium. One article indicated that it was habit forming but did not say that usage would lead to addiction.

I have been using Valium for quite some time and didn't even know that it was a tranquilizer when I first started using it. Is there any factual information on its dangers? In view of the large number of persons using Valium, I'm sure many people would join me in welcoming your views on it. It was prescribed for me to treat Meniere's Disease.

DEAR READER — There is no completely safe medicine. Even life-giving oxygen can kill you. Also, because people behave so differently in response to medicines, what saves one person's life can induce a fatal reaction in another.

Recently efforts have been made to prevent abuse of prolonged habitual use of Valium through strict federal controls.

Valium is a good medicine. It causes few problems and helps a lot of people. As with other medicines there is a list of possible bad effects as long as your arm. The most common problems, though, are over responsiveness to the tranquilizing effects, inducing drowsiness and fatigue. Some patients have trouble with their balance which we call ataxia.

In people taking Valium a long time there is occasionally a reduction in formation of white blood cells and disturbance in liver function. For this reason periodic evaluation of the blood count and liver function is a good idea.

The other point I'd like to stress is that Valium doesn't mix well with alcohol. Both depress the function of the nervous system.

BICENTENNIAL FACTS

The gondola Philadelphia was one of the 15 small craft with which Benedict Arnold fought Sir Guy Carleton's British fleet on Oct. 11, 1776 in the battle off Valcour Island, Lake Champlain. In 1935, the Philadelphia, which was sunk in the battle, was salvaged from Valcour Bay. After raising her guns, a 12-pounder and two 9-pounders, the hull, which contained relics of the expedition, was lifted to the surface and towed to the beach. The remarkably well preserved gunboat is on display at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C. The World Almanac notes.
